

Originally reported single-run differences, against measured noise

